

BRITISH LOSS SEPT., 104,598

Those Who Were Killed or Who Died of Wounds Number About 19,000.

London, Eng., Sept. 28.—British casualties reported during the month of September total 104,598, divided as follows:

Officers killed or died of wounds, 426; men, 13,262.

Officers wounded or missing, 1,151; men, 21,549.

The severity of the fighting in which the British have been engaged during September is indicated not only by the total casualties of more than 104,000, but by comparison with the August figures, which were 52,811.

Casualties in some of the late August fighting in Flanders are naturally included in the September total, but this may well be offset by late September casualties not reported in time to be covered in the figures announced for the month.

The total compares favorably, however, with the figures for September, 1916, the third month of the battle of the Somme, when the casualties were 112,549.

GERMANY DOESN'T KNOW FEUDAL SYSTEM IS GONE

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28.—"Germany has been outlawed by the world because she does not know that this is the 20th century—that Caesar and Napoleon and the feudal system are gone," declared Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the interior, here tonight.

LOOKS LIKE A DIFFERENT BOY SAYS MOTHER

Declares Tanlac made a remarkable change in her son.

"A boy fifteen years old certainly ought to weigh more than seventy pounds, but that's all my son. Enrique weighed until he got to taking the Tanlac," said Mrs. Maria Madrid of 810 South Hill street a few days ago.

"For the past two years," she continued, "in place of growing Enrique seemed to be going down hill all the time. His stomach was in such a bad fix he couldn't eat anything at all, and even liquid diet would sour on his stomach and make him sick. He lost his appetite entirely and I just had to sit by him and coax him into eating a little something. He fell off in weight because his food seemed to do him no good. His health was generally poor. He always had headache and would get so dizzy at times he could hardly stand up. He was very nervous and all the boys of his age seemed to have. He was very nervous and his sleep seemed to do him little or no good and he was drowsy and languid all the time."

"I gave him all sorts of medicines but his condition kept getting worse instead of better until I started him on Tanlac. He has now just about finished his second bottle of Tanlac and the change he has already made in him is remarkable. He is gaining in weight rapidly and his appetite is just fine and he eats any and everything he wants and it doesn't hurt him in the least. His cheeks are filling out and the color in his face shows his blood is getting rich and red again. He looks and acts like a different boy and gets out and enjoys himself with the other boys. Tanlac certainly has brought Enrique out wonderfully and I'm satisfied that there's no other medicine as good for people in the condition he was before taking it."

Tanlac is sold in El Paso by Kelly & Pollard Company, Inc. and by the Drug Store, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative.—Mr.

GERMAN SPIES INVADE NORWAY

Set Fire to Ships and Factories; Newspapers Denounce Espionage.

Christiania, Norway, Sept. 28.—(Correspondence of A. P.)—German conspirators, spies and propagandists formerly so active in the United States, seem to have transferred their attention to Norway. A series of suspicious fires in steamships and factories is blamed on the plotters. Others are charged with helping interned German sailors to escape.

Espionage is freely engaged in and some Germans have been caught at it and sent to jail. Propagandists for many months have been trying to spread a thick layer of pro-Germanism over the country.

The public and press become more enraged over these outrages every day and in warning the people to beware of Germans the newspapers declare that even Germans who have been here many years and are considered half Norwegian are not to be trusted, all being under the influence of Berlin.

He is said to have been deserting to join some of his fellow soldiers who had smuggled ammunition into Douglas and said they were going to "shoot up" the city, whereupon Rogers left for El Paso, arriving here Wednesday morning.

A telegram was received by Sheriff Orndorff from Douglas later to the effect that Rogers was wanted on a desertion charge.

KILLS OFFICIAL AT FORT WORTH

Police Commissioner Slain by Former Police Inspector; Latter Killed.

Fort Worth, Tex., Sept. 28.—The city hall today was still excited over the killing last night of police commissioner Edward Parsley, by J. K. Yates, former inspector of police, who in turn was shot to death by a group of policemen after he had barricaded himself in commissioner Parsley's office.

Yates had threatened both mayor Davis and commissioner Parsley, and it is claimed, went to the city hall seeking the mayor. Not finding him, Yates went to Mr. Parsley's office. A fusillade was fired and officers rushed upstairs to find the door barricaded. Chief of police Montgomery sent for riot guns and a furious exchange of shots through the door to the commissioner's office ensued. The door was broken in and the former inspector's body was found riddled with bullets.

Mr. Parsley was shot twice through the head.

Had Brooded Over Loss of Job. Mayor Davis and commissioner Parsley took office after the last city election. When appointments were made to the police force, Yates' name was not on the list and he was automatically dropped from the force. Friends said Yates had been brooding over the loss of his position and it is reported he had threatened to "clean up" at the city hall unless put back to work.

Tried to Kill Daughter. Mayor Davis was learned, attempted to kill his daughter, Mrs. Albert Karnes. Mrs. Karnes escaped and ran to the home of Sheriff Mann, nearby and remained there until the sheriff returned. Sheriff Mann went to Yates' home and succeeded in getting the former policeman to start toward the city with him. The sheriff stopped to serve some papers and Yates left the automobile in which they had been driving and proceeded to the city hall.

Had Intended Other Murders. According to developments, Yates apparently had intended to kill besides mayor Davis and commissioner Parsley, chief of police Montgomery and chief of detectives Connolly. That was the burden of information given by former police captain Cooper, an associate of Yates, when both served in the city police department.
